

RESEARCH APPROACH

5 stakeholder interviews were conducted during this simulation (approximately 15 minutes each). Use your interview outputs to complete this research brief. The structure below mirrors what a consultant would produce after a discovery sprint.

Personas interviewed:

- Aunty Mary Tan — Cashier
- Uncle John DeSouza — Owner / Founder
- Mrs Selva — Loyal Customer
- Jacky — HDB Staff / Bulk Buyer
- Darren DeSouza — Main Barista

Method:

- Semi-structured conversation
- AI-simulated personas (case brief)
- Focus: pain points, workarounds, aspirations
- ~15 minutes per persona

BUSINESS SNAPSHOT

From your interviews and case brief, describe Tea Fellas in 3–4 sentences, then confirm the key figures.

Describe Tea Fellas: who they are, what they sell, who they serve, their current state...

— — /day
Daily customers

$ — , — — /mo
Monthly revenue

$ — , — — /mo
Net monthly surplus

KEY THEMES

What are the 4 overarching themes that emerged across your 5 interviews? Name each theme and write a 1-sentence summary of what you consistently heard.

Theme 1: Ordering & Queue Friction

What pattern did you hear across interviews?

Theme 2: Order Accuracy

What pattern did you hear across interviews?

Theme 3: Loyalty & Retention

What pattern did you hear across interviews?

Theme 4: Operational Scalability

What pattern did you hear across interviews?

For each of the 5 personas, record what you learned from your simulation interview: their key pain point, their aspiration, and a memorable quote that captures their perspective.

M

Aunty Mary Tan

Cashier · John's wife, late 50s · Handles payments and all handwritten order chits

TOP PAIN POINT

What problem did she describe?

HER ASPIRATION

What does she hope for?

VERBATIM-STYLE QUOTE

"Write a key quote from your interview here..."

J

Uncle John DeSouza

Owner / Founder · Early 60s · Manages collection counter from memory

TOP PAIN POINT

What problem did he describe?

HIS ASPIRATION

What does he hope for?

VERBATIM-STYLE QUOTE

"Write a key quote from your interview here..."

S

Mrs Selva

Loyal Customer · Early 50s · 3-4 visits/week, 17-year regular

TOP PAIN POINT

What problem did she describe?

HER ASPIRATION

What does she hope for?

VERBATIM-STYLE QUOTE

"Write a key quote from your interview here..."

K

Jacky

HDB Senior Manager · 35 · Daily bulk buyer, arrives 7:15am, orders 5-6 drinks

TOP PAIN POINT

What problem did he describe?

HIS ASPIRATION

What does he hope for?

VERBATIM-STYLE QUOTE

"Write a key quote from your interview here..."

D

Darren DeSouza

Main Barista · 25 · SMU Business grad, John's nephew, makes every drink alone

TOP PAIN POINT

What problem did he describe?

HIS ASPIRATION

What does he hope for?

VERBATIM-STYLE QUOTE

"Write a key quote from your interview here..."

PAIN POINT SUMMARY

List all pain points identified across your 5 interviews. For each, note who feels it, how severe it is, and how often it occurs.

#	Pain Point	Who Feels It	Severity	Frequency
1
2
3
4
5
6
7
8
9

EMERGING OPPORTUNITY AREAS

Based on your pain point analysis, identify 3 opportunity areas where an intervention would create the most value for Tea Fellas.

Opportunity Area 1:

What is the opportunity? Who benefits? What might a solution look like?

Opportunity Area 2:

What is the opportunity? Who benefits? What might a solution look like?

Opportunity Area 3:

What is the opportunity? Who benefits? What might a solution look like?

→ NEXT STEP — PHASE 2

You have completed the discovery phase. In Phase 2, you will frame the core problem, define the product vision, and identify Business Process Re-engineering opportunities. Use these findings as your evidence base.